

"Sorry boys, you're all washed up," Jesse said while chuckling.

"But, while you're at it you could take down our dams." Patrick chirped. "It took one person six hours. Let's see how long it takes you guys!"

The army disappeared down the road to start taking down the dams.

They all chuckled and headed to Patrick's house for ice cream.

That is the tale of how the strong and gigantic Ian, the small, but brave Patrick, the lightning fast Zach and the extremely intelligent Jesse saved Clandeboye and the surrounding area from the worst flood ever documented in time.

The Big Race

Long, long ago, there was an ongoing feud between the small towns of Petersfield and Clandeboye. The feud was about which brand name of snowmobile was the best. The people of Petersfield thought Skidoo was the best and the Clandeboye folks preferred Arctic Cat.

One day, Mayor Blaise called a drag race to settle this nasty feud! Blaise told each town to pick their best racer. Without a doubt, Petersfield picked Johnathon Vandenberg, with his brand new speedy MXZ500. Clandeboye would put Brant Palmer on the line, known for his fearlessness of speed.

The next day was the big race. Brant and Johnathon both hadn't slept a wink. Nervousness, fear and excitement was in the air. The Clandeboye crowd went wild with cheers as Brant approached the starting line with his sleek green ZR500 with 120 picks and a helix for take off. However, soon after the Petersfield crowd exceeded this noise when Johnathon sped to the line on his yellow MXZ500 souped up with 96 picks and a pipe kit.

David of Petersfield was the honorary flag waver to start this event. "On your mark, get set...GO!" he shouted, above the revving of the smoky engines.

All the townsfolk saw was a green and yellow streak flash before their eyes. Brant beat John off the line with his helix, however it wasn't long before John was hot on his tail. John pulled up with great speed and tore past Brant. It looked like he would take the race. But, no what was happening? Brant floored his ZR, giving it all it had, to pull up neck and neck with the MXZ as they crossed the finish line.

"I can't believe my eyes! It's a tie!" gasped Keith.

Ever since the race, the villagers of Petersfield and Clandeboye agreed to accept their differences and live peacefully side by side, until boating season started!

Erin Saves the Day

One day, Erin the wisest and most clever human being in all of Clandeboye, was taking a stroll with her horse, Sadie. She suddenly heard someone crying. It was the sound which came from a young boy. With her exquisite ears, Erin carefully listened to what was happening. The boy was being threatened of his life. She could also see through a gap in the bushes that the boy was being shoved to the ground.

Not only was hearing and seeing one of Erin's better qualities, but she also taught archery lessons to the people of Clandeboye. She always won every annual target-shooting contest. Erin instantly snatched an arrow out of her leather quiver and aimed it at one of the mob members. It sprang through one man's hat and flew into a nearby tree. Everyone looked up at Erin and gasped. The whole gang immediately packed up and ran off on their horses. Erin came and sat beside the boy.

"What is your name, boy?" Erin questioned.

"My name is Patrick", he answered.

"And what were you doing here earlier?"

"I was just on my way back from the brook after I got some water," said Patrick softly.

After the small conversation, Erin helped Patrick carry the buckets of water back to his house. Patrick thanked Erin and then she hopped back on her horse and set back off into the forest.

When Erin was taking her daily walk beside the creek, she overheard the three men who attacked Patrick earlier beginning a plan to burn down the town hall.

"So, here's what we do," whispered Ian, the head of his troop, "We sneak to the town hall and light the stick of dynamite, throw it in through the open window, run for cover, then KABLAMEE!"

"Should we meet somewhere on the night we set the hall on fire?" asked Adam, one of the gang members.

"Yah, like right here," answered Nick.

"Very well. Right here will do." replied Ian.

Little did the three men know that Erin was listening closely. She also began a plan, but instead of blowing a building up, she would try and protect it. Erin ran back to the village with Sadie and gathered a group of her best archers. On the night of the disaster, Erin and the archers hid in the hall, waiting for Ian, Nick and Adam to arrive.

When they did arrive, Adam slipped the stick of dynamite out of his pocket and gave it to Ian. Nick lit the match and slowly moved it to the wick of the stick. Just before the dynamite was lit, Erin burst out of the front doors of the town hall and shot the dynamite stick. It flew out of Ian's hand and landed in a well. Ian and his crew started to spring to get away from Erin, but the blast from the well confused them. Erin and the archers dropped their weapons and ran over to the mob that almost blew down the town hall. Erin had been prepared, for she had brought with her, three ropes. She threw two to her helpers, and then she grabbed Ian. Erin tied him up good and then put them in the jail.

By the time, this was all over, all the townspeople gathered around the commotion. Then the president of all the land came to see Erin. Jenna (the President) congratulated Erin for her heroic work and invited her to live in her elegant house with her.

"There are more deeds to be done, Jenna," replied Erin, and with that, she was off on Sadie to another land.

Kurt, the Kind Clandeboye Cop

One sunny day, while Kurt, the kind Clandeboye Cop, was riding his go-cart, he stopped at the Clandeboye General Store for a Barq's root beer and a donut. While he was selecting his sprinkles for the donut, he detected an unusual looking man slithering into the Clandeboye Meats and Deli.

Suddenly, he heard a horrifying shriek come from the deli. Instinctively, he darted across the street towards the screams. Kurt, the kind Clandeboye Cop, scrambled through the door to assess the situation. Once inside, he saw Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Pammer trembling in the corner as the odd looking man, was rifling through the meat display case. Kurt, the kind Clandeboye Cop, couldn't believe his eyes, as the odd looking man was shoving turkeys into his bag, pork chops into his pants and beef jerky into his socks. Kurt, the kind Clandeboye Cop, knew he had to do something to save the day.

Without fear, he flew at the odd looking man and started his "wrestling moves" on the poor, unsuspecting villain. When the dust cleared, Kurt, the kind Clandeboye Cop, had the villain tied up in a chair. Then on his radio, he called for his fellow officers, Tory, Kenton, Nick and Adam to come and pick up the wrongdoer and escort him to the station.

Ever since that frightful day, when Kurt the kind

Clandeboye Cop, saved Clandeboye Meats and Deli, no criminal has even dared to set foot in the town of Clandeboye.

Super Jenna

Once upon a time in a small town called Clandeboye, there was a small girl named Jenna, who attended William S. Patterson School. During her grade six year, Jenna always got teased about her lack of height and strength, until the students made an astounding discovery.

It happened one hot day in July, when her four good friends – Jennifer, Tory, Adam and Kenton were having a pool party at Ms. Boch's house. After a while, things started to get rowdy. Everyone was pushing and shoving when Jennifer got pushed off the diving board by Tory and hit her head on the bottom of the pool.

Everyone stopped and stared, as they saw Jennifer lying at the bottom of the pool.

"She isn't moving," Kenton yelled.

"Call 911!" screamed Adam with a fright.

In a matter of ten seconds, a voice shouted from the clear sky, "No fear, Super Jenna's here!"

Jenna dove into the water and pulled Jennifer out with ease.

"Are you alright?" Tory asked.

"Yah, I think so, but I feel like someone dropped a 40 pound brick on my head."

"Thanks Super Jenna, you're the best!" Ms. Boch said with excitement.

Ever since this day, Jenna has never been teased and is now known as SUPER JENNA!!

William S. Patterson

There was once a young boy who had just arrived at the brand new school found in Clandeboye merely a week ago.

The child's name was William Smith Patterson. Unfortunately, this boy had not many friends, and was very lonely because of that. He usually hid among the shadows of the saplings that encircled the school.

The school had just been completed just over a year ago, so the pavement was being laid only now.

There was one small problem, however. The school had yet to decide on a proper sounding name.

The whole town puzzled and puzzled, but for the life of them, they were unable to come up with a single idea.

William from his vantage point in the hedge, was very interested in the workers whom he spied upon. He delighted in how accurate their movements were, and how effective as well. Ho! how he wished he would be able to do that one day.

As William watched in awe on a dry, crisp spring day, he spotted a spark leap from the land that a man working had struck moments ago. The flash of glowing orange quickly faded, but not soon enough to escape the sharp eyes of William. School for the day had ended half an hour ago, so no one else was near for quite a ways. The man William had been watching had finished his working hours, and walked over to the sagging blanket shelter that contained their drinking water.

The man hurriedly escaped into the shelter, obviously eager to head home.

Since the man was out of view for the moment, William's eyes wandered to the spot where he had sighted the spark. He gasped in horror when his eyes settled upon a shower of sparks that had seemed to replace the harmless single flick of fire. He felt his whole being stiffen when he saw the crackling creation spread toward the flammable towel shelter where the working man had disappeared within.

Without a moments more hesitation, he sprinted toward the fire's destination, surpassing it's speed with triumph.

He pranced into the shelter and found the man absorbing a full glass of ice cold water. William screamed the man a warning, pointing to the spark infested entrance. The man's eyes widened in shock, but as if mirroring William's reaction before, he only hesitated for a moment. With that, the two shot out the burning entrance with only two seconds to spare.

The boy and the man sank down to the dewy wet grass as their adrenaline rush receded into a relieved, grogginess state.

The crowd cheered wildly after the award ceremony. There were two things to celebrate for. One of course, was the heroic act that William had made a week earlier. The other was of a completely different origin. The school had finally settled upon a name for the school! They wanted to give William more than a medal of recognition for what he had done. So, they conclusively decided that they would use William's name as the school's, as long as he willingly agreed, and that you can be sure of, he most certainly did!

Clandeboye 2000

by Criston Badgley

Technology – I think in 20 years from now our technology will be more advanced. Netscape will be faster. It would be nice if we had moving sidewalks to get from your home to school or from your home to your friends home.

Businesses – In the future, I think that our community will have a McDonald's, a repair or auto body shop, and a little mall. I believe that the Clandeboye Store and Clandeboye Meats will still be around to serve Clandeboye. All businesses will be run entirely by computers and everything will be done much faster.

School – In the year 2000, WSP School might be a two storey school. The school might have a school cafeteria that is open all day and a bigger gym.

Homes – Homes might look like giant golf balls. Homes might have underground parking and might have better foundations.

2000 and Beyond

by Chelsey Carter

The next millennium is coming up fast and I'm getting really excited! I thought I'd share some of my thoughts and ideas with you! Here it goes ...

In the next millennium I think education will change a lot. For one thing, I think it will be harder to pass elementary school because if teachers just let children skip past grades, thinking they'll do better next year, students won't get a good enough education to find a job when they're older to support themselves or a family. Also, I think schools will have special "Internet" classes to learn how to use the Net. You never know, in 20 years from now, Clandeboye might have computers for each student, instead of paper and pencils.

With the next millennium coming up, I think technology will change dramatically. Obviously, computers will change. I think the Internet will be as popular as the telephone, and almost everyone will have a computer. In the business world, computers will be a necessity. Also, I think that online shopping will take over large stores such as Eaton's and Sears.

When the year 2000 arrives, I think some new laws will be set. I think people will be able to keep exotic pets in their homes. You know how we have limits of how many pets you can have in your home at one time? Well, I think that the government will take away that rule, and we'll be able to have as many pets as we want. Last but not least, I think traffic laws will be tougher because there has been so many car accidents lately.

In the next millennium, I think some new businesses will come to Clandeboye, so it will be more convenient for the people. I think these businesses will include a few restaurants, a mall, a grocery store, a bank, a dentist/doctor office and a car dealership.

Well, those are my ideas about the year 2000. What are yours?

Beyond 2000 in Clandeboye

by Rosalyn Church

What do you think will happen when the new millennium approaches? It's just around the corner you know! Here are some of my ideas.

I think technology will change a lot in 20 years from now. School buses would fly to your house, pick you up and take you to school. There would be computer chips that would send messages telling crops in Clandeboye to grow. In the school, there would be elevators to take you to your classes in Junior High and High School. Also, WSP might become a two storey building so then we could have elevators in our school.

Education in Clandeboye is a really neat and interesting thing to talk about. Our schools are going to change drastically in future years. For example, there will be small laptop computers on the side of each student's desk. There will also be a small fridge under every desk with lots of goodies, like chips and you can't forget fruit. If you need to make something that needs to be warmed up, you would have a microwave in your classroom on top, or beside the students desks. Classroom desks would be the size of a poker table. This is how I see schools changing in our community.

New businesses will be very successful because I think Clandeboye needs a lot more stores like a Gaynors and a gift shop, like "Ellen's Baskets", a Wal-Mart, Zellers and a bunch of restaurants. They might have a Perkins and, of course, a McDonalds. They might have a theater for kids to go and watch a movie without going to Selkirk. Or perhaps, Selkirk and Clandeboye join together and may be even have Petersfield too! A bait and tackle shop would come in handy for Netley Creek. We also need a public swimming pool and an insurance office. Wouldn't that be great!

I personally think that a lot of the laws will change in the year 2020. There should be a rule that the government should let kids work at the age of 12 instead of 14. There should also be a new law that would permit you to drive a car in grade 10 regardless of your age.

I hoped you enjoyed reading some of my predictions for the future.

Y2K in Clandeboye/Petersfield

by Kim Cronin

What do you predict the new millennium will be like? Here are my thoughts ...

I think in the next 20 - 30 years, Petersfield will be called "Peterswood". I think this because celebrities will come to our area because of all the great businesses, such as snack shops on the beach, and a bigger and better Wal-Mart. There will also be a new show called "Netley Creek" instead of "Dawson's Creek", many celebrities would work in our area.

I also predict that people will have monkeys as pets. This will be legal because by then, monkeys will be smart enough to play games, eat with forks and entertain small children. They will be a good choice of pet.

I think the main source of education will be computers. I predict computers will teach children at home. There will be a new class at school all about computers, because all jobs will require a computer. But unfortunately, there will be less and less job opportunities because most jobs will be run by programmed computers.

In the new millennium, there will be new laws in our community. I think there will be no roads in Clandeboye in the new millennium. Instead there will only be trails for bikes and horses and side-walks for walking. This is because no cars will be used for pollution reasons. The most important law will be no cars allowed. People will travel by foot, horses and/or bikes. This is because the ozone layer will get thinner and thinner. We will stop pollution.

This is what I think the year 2000 will be like in our community.

Into the Future of Clandeboye

by Jenna Croy

Do you have many predictions on the year 2000 and beyond? Because I sure do! I've brain stormed on a couple. School/education, business, medical research and transportation.

School/Education - WSP will become a bigger school. We will have an indoor basketball court with a scoreboard and every second noon hour, the school will have a tournament. We'll have more subjects and one of them will be Netscape. Also, we will have a bigger playground with a huge baseball and soccer field.

Medical Research – Scientists will find a cure for cancer in an unknown tropical fruit growing in the rain forest. Scientists will find a healthy plant to take the place of cigarettes. Scientists will also find that dandelions will cure diseases without having to take a needle.

Business – Much of the business from Selkirk will move to Clandeboye. There will be a museum on the history of Clandeboye and Petersfield by the Hall with artifacts that no other museum has. There will also be a library twice the size of the school's library in the vacant lot by the rink.

Transportation – A class from WSP will invent a space ship that can take people up into space to study the moon. With this invention, students will be able to go into space for science and study the stars, sun and moon. Merv Haines will invent a safer way to travel in vehicles but you never know, Mr. Haines, he might even invent a safer way to travel in space!

That's what I think will happen in the new millennium.

The New Millennium in Clandeboye

by Tyler Croy

In the next millennium, I have many predictions regarding how our community will change. Things will be much different than they are now. Here are some of my ideas.

In the year 2000 and beyond, I think Clandeboye will be a subway system. I bet you're asking "why?" Well, I think that many rich people who no longer enjoy city life will come to Clandeboye. They will do this because Winnipeg's population will grow and many Winnipeg neighborhoods will be crowded and polluted. Our community will need a quick and cheap transportation system so that people can travel from home in Clandeboye to work in Winnipeg.

In the future, I think that schools will have elevators because all schools will have two levels. WSP for example, will have one floor for Kindergarten through grade three and one level for grades four through six. I think a new Junior High and High School will be built in the Clandeboye area because people will discover it would be cheaper to have all students in one area. I predict WSP School will have a pool one day. The classrooms will have a laptop computer on each and every desk for the students to do their lessons on.

I think Clandeboye will get a lumber store in the future. If we got a high school with a wood working class, they could help with the lumber store. I also think our community is in need of a seniors housing complex and that one will be built in the future.

These are my predictions for the new millennium. I hope you enjoyed them!

Clandeboye and the New Millennium

by Kyle Flett

If you want to know what the new millennium might be like, sit back and read my ideas.

In the new millennium, Clandeboye might have a McDonalds for fast food. Also, there might be a mini Costco for groceries. Another possibility is there might be a dentist office located in Clandeboye, so people don't have to go to Selkirk to get their teeth cleaned.

In the new millennium, cars and trucks might have rubber tires. Also, cars will be electric instead of using gas for fuel. And cars and trucks might have a little remote control to open your car door inside your house. Also, an underground highway might be created in our community so that you can go where you want to go in less time.

In the future, I think that all schools will have Internet access. Also, WSP school might get a track for running. In the new millennium, WSP might be two stories high with more students and more classrooms.

In the next 20 years, I think all computers will be more powerful with faster modems. Also, I think desks might have their own computers and chalkboards. Perhaps, computers won't need mouse pads because you will have to just touch the screen and your icon will appear right before your eyes.

These are the few predictions I have for the new millennium.

What Do You Think will Happen in Clandeboye and Petersfield in the Year 2000?

by Ryan Foss

Houses – In the year 2000, I think houses will be really big and the walls would be made of windows. In every room, there will be big screen TV's for inside walls.

Technology – In the year 2000, I think that Clandeboye and Petersfield will get arcades and computer stores.

Businesses – In the year 2000, I think that Clandeboye and Petersfield will get big hotels, malls and restaurants like McDonald's and Dairy Queen.

School – In the year 2000, I think that Clandeboye school will get escalators to get from classroom to classroom. I think that every classroom would get a computer at every desk and there will be a TV, microwave and refrigerator in every room.

Personal – In the year 2000, I think I will still live in Petersfield or Clandeboye. If I don't, I will live somewhere in the United States or somewhere in Canada. I would like to be a mechanic or a big sport player. When I am older, these are the sports I would probably play – soccer, baseball, running or hockey.

These are only a few of my ideas about our community in years to come.

Beyond 2000

by Colin Harris

Many people have remarkable predictions for the new millennium. I'd like to share mine will you.

Technology in the new millennium will be better and more advanced. The Internet will expand enormously and computers will have fast modems. Maybe the fastest modem now on computers, will be the slowest modem in the next thirty years. More and better computer games will be made for computers. I believe that a new Nintendo system will be produced and put on the market, even better than N64. I also think there would be a cloning machine invented in the far future.

I think by the year 2040, Clandeboye will expand. Businesses will come to Clandeboye, such as McDonalds, Wal-Mart, Sears, etc. The Clandeboye Store and Meats and Deli stores will expand. They will sell a lot more stock. Meats and Deli will get even larger selections of meats. Clandeboye Store will grow until it is as big as a mall.

In the year 2000, I think Darcy Kerr will be pronounced fastest man in the world. Kyle Flett will be a pro golfer and win all of the Master's Tournaments. Ms. Boch will retire as a teacher and become a famous dog trainer. Kyle Lavallee will become a cat breeder. I think that I will become a famous center halfback for Manchester United.

Those are some of my thoughts for the new millennium. I hope you enjoyed them.

Clandeboye in 2000 and Beyond

by Kayla Henderson

Do you know what things will be like in the new millennium in our community? Here's what I think...

In the new millennium I think that Clandeboye homes will have robot maids and servants. The people who are poor now will be rich in the future. Also the bush in Clandeboye will be a housing area. Everyone in the world will have a home.

In the year 2000 I think that the computers will have faster modems. It will be faster to search the Internet.

The millennium will have more businesses in Clandeboye, like a library, a better restaurant and perhaps everything will be more expensive to buy. Maybe they'll have more buyers, maybe work done by computers, even more than today!

In the new millennium William S. Patterson School may have computers at all the desks rather than pencils and paper. The computers may have buttons to touch and the computer will take you where you want to go.

This is what I think Clandeboye will be like in the year 2000.

Clandeboye in 2000

by Steven Telenko

I think that in the year 2000 we will have a bigger town because it will become a city called Peterboye. It will be a huge place and we will have a river because the creek will become bigger. There will be shopping malls for our convenience.

Also, because of the new river, we will have a big shipping business. It will bring a lot of money and jobs. People will move here and it will be so big that there will be movie stars visiting the area. They will want to make movies here. There will be a street called Clandewood because of the stars and we will have a lot of money.

They will make the WSP School bigger. There will be computers on each desk. There will be a store inside the school so kids can get food from the store. The best part is that the teachers will be robots.

That is what I think the year 2000 will bring.

New Millennium In Clandeboye

by Darcy Kerr

What kinds of changes might happen in the year 2000? Here are my predictions.

In the new millennium, I think transportation will change a lot. Cars might have solid rubber tires. Cars would have door locks that open the door when you touch the locks. It would take only your finger print to open the door. Strangers would no longer be able to break into your car.

In the new millennium, I think I know what some of my fellow classmates will be doing. John Mabee will own a Pumpkin Factory, Colin Harris will be a professional soccer player, while Kayla Neilson could play professional women's volleyball.

In the new millennium, I think schools will change drastically. The WSP School might have a track and field area for students to train on. Student's desks would be much different too, for computers would be on each and every desktop.

In the new millennium, I think I will be the fastest person on the earth. I would like to think that I, Darcy Kerr, will be a track and field star. If that doesn't work out, I would like to be designing cars. I might live in British Columbia beside a waterfall.

I hope you enjoyed my predictions for the next millennium.

Clandeboye Beyond 2000

by Adam Kreamer

Here are my predictions for the new millennium.

Technology – the computers screens will be much larger, although some will be pocket sized. The fridges will be bigger because there will be no cabinets. The TV's will become 3D and video games will pop out in front of you.

School – The WSP School will be bigger because more people will come to Clandeboye. There will be a restaurant in the school for both teachers and students. The school will have twelve TV's in the classrooms. The desks will have a computer on them and one class will be taught by Internet.

Business – There will be a lot of new businesses in Clandeboye and the people won't have to go to Winnipeg for food. There will be a lot of restaurants and a hockey rink. The NHL will play here. A football field and a baseball team will play out of Clandeboye. The creek will have a lot of docks and a fishing shop.

Transportation – Cars in the next millennium will hold about 12 people in them and the new GMC will be a huge flying truck. The cars will be a lot different than the trucks. The cars will go faster than vans.

These are my predictions for the future.

Our Town in 2000

by Kyle Lavallee

Do you have any ideas about how Clandeboye is going to look in 20 years? Here are some of my ideas, and I'd like to share them with you.

Maybe not right away, but eventually, some new amusements will come to Clandeboye. Netley Creek Golf Course will probably get another nine holes. It could even become a huge franchise. The school grounds will be the site of a huge water park, and the field behind Clandeboye Meats will be the site of the world's largest Mr. Potato Head made by Hasbro.

The school will take up the area which is now the development. All of the Clandeboye Store will be an arcade, where you could buy a card that would work as quarters. There would be a Costco for all of our needs. A ballpark would be built here with a baseball team.

The people living in Clandeboye will also change. There would be celebrities living here because all the big cities would be filled with people, and the celebrities would want to live in a less hectic and polluted town. Clandeboye would be the suburb of Winnipeg, because a lot of people would move out of Winnipeg. Some of the kids I grew up with will become celebrities and pro sport players. Kyle Flett will probably become a pro golfer on the PGA tour.

I think that our school will probably expand from all the people moving here. The school will be huge with three floors filled up with a gym, pool, and indoor track. Another two floors will be created for kindergarten up to grade nine. Escalators will be installed to make it easier to get to classes.

In the millennium, there will be bigger houses in our community. Most would probably be four stories tall. Each house would have the latest features in technology. For example, we might have electric dogs for security purposes. There would be huge rooms and electric door locks so no one could break into your house.

These are some of my ideas about what Clandeboye will be like in the new millennium.

Building It Up in Year 2000

by Kayla Nielson

Everybody thinks about the future and what it will be like, so here is a small report to describe my thoughts about Clandeboye in future years!

In the new millennium, I think WSP School will be a lot larger because it will turn into a Junior High. Teachers (the ones over 38) will retire and we'll have all new ones. The desks might be miniature offices and every classroom will have a kitchen. That's what I think our school will be like!

In the new millennium, I think technology will improve in many ways. I think there will be phones attached to the dashboard in every vehicle, and the phones will show you who you're talking to. Kid's desks will have computer screens and all you have to do is touch it to answer something. That's how I think technology will change in the future!

In the new millennium, I think there will be a lot more businesses in Clandeboye. People won't have to go all the way to Winnipeg if they need to buy something. Laws will also change in the future. I think the simple ones such as keeping wild animals in captivity without a license will be forbidden. That's what I think about business and laws.

Well, there you have it. These are my thoughts about the future in Clandeboye.

2000 and Beyond in Clandeboye

by Stephani Pammer

How will Clandeboye change in the new millennium? I have some ideas, so read on and see what I think.

Clandeboye, Selkirk, and Winnipeg may join together in the future and be called Clanirkpeg. And I think this new bigger capital city will have lots of stores. The area we are presently living in may have a large Safeway or Costco so that people living in Clandeboye would no longer have to travel so far for groceries.

The William S. Patterson school might change in the future. This is how I think it might change: The school might change by having more floors and rooms and perhaps a McDonalds in it. It might go up to Grade 9 or 10, and every class will have more than ten computers in it.

In the future, I think laws will change in our community. For example, people will be able to keep wild animals as house pets. Also, a law will be created that allows people to drive a car by age 12 as long as there is an adult in the car. I also think that everybody over age 12 will have their own car which is like a normal car but floats 50 cm off the ground. We would no longer need to change car tires.

That is how I think Clandeboye will change in the new millennium!!

Beyond 2000

by Jennifer Regier

The next millennium is vastly approaching and I have many thoughts about what Clandeboye will be like in twenty years. Here are some ideas that I would like to share with you.

In the next millennium, I think that Clandeboye will grow into a large town or city. If this happens, WSP will no longer be able to accommodate the needs of all of the students and will either have to move or expand. Perhaps, they could have the students come every second day and have satellite classrooms. At home, learning programs may have to be an alternative.

In the next millennium, I think that new laws would be created. For example, "overtime" would be abolished and people will spend more time with their families. People would only work 8 hours every day and only 4 days every week. Also, I think there will be a law that prohibits smoking. And, I think that Sunday will be proclaimed "Family Day", a day where people go to church and spend time with their families.

In the next millennium, I think there will be a monorail in our community instead of school buses. All the children would bike to the main road and would be taken the rest of the way by the monorail. And, I think there would be monorails to go to many other places, like Winnipeg or Selkirk.

In twenty years, I could see myself as a Veterinarian because of my love for animals. I think Stephani Pammer would make a wonderful elementary school teacher because she has a lot of patience with younger children. And, my sister, Michelle Regier, will probably become a marine biologist because she is an excellent swimmer, enjoys science and loves fish.

Those are some of my predictions for the next millennium and our community.

Beyond 2000 in Clandeboye

by Cody Sterzer

In the year 2000, many changes will come to Petersfield and Clandeboye. What does the future hold for you? Here are a few of my predictions:

I think the golf course will expand to a 36 hole course with a restaurant, hotel, a putting green, a driving range, drink machines at the end of each 9th hole and a swimming pool. Also, there might be an intersection in Petersfield. The two towns (Petersfield and Clandeboye) might become one city, maybe even bigger than Winnipeg. Then Clandeboye and Petersfield will join under the name of Clandefield. It might become the new capital of Manitoba.

WSP might get two more floors and an elevator. Ms. Boch, the Grade 6A teacher of '99 will still be teaching because she is so young. Kids will have their own personal computers at their desks so they can have their journals and disks on them. These computers will be touch tone so when you have a test, the screen will display a multiple choice quiz and all you have to do is touch the right one. When you are done, the computer will correct it and send your marks to your teacher.

In the two towns of Petersfield and Clandeboye – a train station, McDonalds, a doctor, a dentist and a mini airport will be formed because of more people moving in. This will happen because the rich people from the city will move to the country to escape the city's noise and pollution. This is now happening in St. Andrews.

I think another train or a subway station will be constructed. Petersfield used to have a train station, but it was torn down and abandoned – maybe, they will try again. One of these two could also add people to the population making the community even bigger.

No one knows what the year 2000 will bring. These are a few of my predictions, I hope you enjoyed them. Maybe my guesses are way off. Perhaps technology on earth will speed up so fast that there will be flying cars in the year 2020! Who knows?

2000 and Beyond in Clandeboye

by Dana Vrooman

In the new millennium, many exciting things will happen. Here are some of my predictions:

Transportation – Clandeboye might have three subways that travel as fast as the speed of light. It would take the subway train half an hour to travel from Clandeboye to Hawaii. In the new millennium, there might be moving sidewalks. The sidewalks will have adjustable speeds. There will be four speeds. Speeds are very slow, slow, fast and very fast.

Entertainment – In the new millennium a helmet may be invented that you could play video games on and you could hook up with a friend and can play a two player game.

School – In Clandeboye, there might be over 1000 students in WSP School because of population increase. There might be a new Junior and Senior High School added. All schools in the Lord Selkirk School Division will get a new swimming pool!

Businesses – In the future, there will be a big mall in Clandeboye with a “Toys are Us” Store. There will also be a carpet cleaning company and they will come to your house and clean your carpet for 50 cents.

These are my predictions for the year 2000.

Beyond 2000

by Lee White

In the new millennium, I think Clandeboye will be very different. Read on to hear some of my predictions.

For starters, I think many businesses will come to our community. For example, I think we will have a Snakshak Ice Cream Stand, a bank, a fishing tackle shop and a Pizza Hut. These places will help our community grow and make more money. More people will probably come and build homes in our community.

WSP School will also change in the next millennium. We will have computers on our desks to help us with our work. We will get computers modems to make the Internet faster. We might get arcades in our schools for break times. We will have a pool and track and field, so we will no longer have to go the High /School for tournaments.

To go to school in the new millennium, you will be able to ride a quad or a dirt bike. In the next twenty years, they will start making electric cars for transportation. These cars will not pollute our Earth like the ones we have now.

This is how I think our school will change in the new millennium.

Clandeboye in 2000

by Victoria A. Wilgosh

In the new millennium, or Y2K as some people call it, many predictions have been made. My report covers pets/animals, businesses, education and technology in Clandeboye in the new millennium. Here are some of my thoughts.

In the new millennium, I think pets and animals in Clandeboye will become more exotic. I think they will transport exotic animals here. More people will care for our animals so less animals will go to pounds and shelters. In the new millennium, I think Clandeboye will make killing animals illegal so less people will harm the animals. And I think someone in Clandeboye will make an electronic collar for pets so you know where they are and you don't lose your pet.

In Clandeboye, in the new millennium, I think they will build a Hospital between Clandeboye and Winnipeg Beach. Also, I think they will build a mall in Clandeboye. In the new millennium, I think Clandeboye and Petersfield will become a big municipality with several convenience store and fast food restaurants like McDonald's. Hey, it could happen! And I think there will be an ice-cream vendor that comes down the creek by boat or jet ski.

In the new millennium, I think WSP School will get another story and will have to get an elevator or escalator. The school will also get a cafeteria. School desks will have laptop computers on the desks. In the new millennium I think Clandeboye and Petersfield will build a Junior High or High School. In the classrooms, there will be a microwave and fridge for the students' lunches.

In the new millennium, I think there will be miraculous changes around the world. Perhaps, they will make cars that do not harm our Ozone. Computers will get very small and compact, and will become less expensive.

Those are my thoughts on the new millennium in Clandeboye. I hoped you enjoyed reading them!

School Flashbacks

GRAZING THE PAST AND PRESENT

Valentine from Mr. McKaughan Clandeboye, February 14, 1941

When Phillip taps his head with sticks
The question "Is it wood or bricks?"
With algebra, it does not click
But out of school "Phill's quite slick"

When Billy taps the desk with sticks
He blames it on arithmetic,
Which is as tough as a game of checkers
But sounds like a bluff filled with woodpeckers.

When Larry rattles with the sticks
You'd think he battles big woodticks
But in Larry, there's no guile
You just can't ignore his bland smile.

When Eldon fiddles with a stick
We guess he is bitten by a tick
But on the ice with hockey stick
We look to him a goal to "nick".

Wee Doreen's bigger than she looks
When in the class we read French books
She savvies French just like pea soup
On Monday nights she loops the loop.

Staid Verna isn't half so shy
For if by chance you catch her eye
You'd think her glance was pretty sly.

Grave Evelyn's mien proclaims her sage
You'd scarce expect it at her age.
But "blow for blow", and "round by round"
She will battle boys wits to the ground.
Don't think the boys have all the wit
When knotty problems, there's to split.

Coy Esther is never on the fence
To battle boys in girls defence
But ne'er believe she'd spurn a boy
That's why we hint "durn" coy.

But when there is a friend in need
Or when you lack a kindly deed,
Or when you pull a naughty trick
Or when there is a bone to pick,
Just call on little Esther.

But when it comes to smiling faces
To jumping high, and running races
To grimace wry, and winsome graces
Just call on Marjorie.

But when a problem you would batter
Just trust on Marge your wits to scatter
With blasting, everlasting chatter.

But when your temper you would cure
Just gaze on Muriel, the demure.
She'd wile away dour crusty mood
As if your woes she understood.

But Orma, Orma lithe and fair
For dances how you wave your hair.
If on your books you'd ply such craft
About your looks we'd be less daft.
Your slacks are long, your skirts are short
A sign you are a sporty sport.

Now Betty of the Grade IX class
I most forgot this winsome lass,
She was out so late on Monday night
Of her since then we've seen no sight
We've heard she's in an awful plight
Which is to us no darn delight
But here's to health and better hours
We hate to waste our wealth on flowers.

When in a race you need a sport
Of all the boys you'd call on Bert
Although too shy to catch a flirt
He's just a guy to watch a skirt.

Though Reggie's name suggests a king
For George the Sixth he'll never sing
When he shouts and raises yell
His blasts suggest the letter —L
A word I never say, but spell.

Both last and lastly brownly "Mac"
With all these nasty nuts to crack
Lest these vile rhymes bore and tire
Let's burn them o'er this poplar fire.

One Room School

One, two, three, four
Walls, some windows and a door,
Some battered desks, a dunce's stool
Add up to the one-room school.

An iron stove that made us doze -
While one side baked, the other froze.
A teacher's desk, a hickory switch

That sometimes made our britches itch.

The teacher we all loved so well,
Who taught us how to add and spell.
From first grade on through graduation,
She nurtured our young education.
Though few there were in any grade,
We learned to be quite unafraid.
Of what a higher grade might bring,
For each year we heard everything.

And if we could not spell a word
We should have learned while still in third
We could regain what we were missing
By knowing, later, when to listen.

We loved the little one-room school,
A citadel for sage and fool.
We learned of life, we learned endeavour,
But most, we learned to live together.

Anon.

Miss Davis School

Miss Davis School – 1858. Built in 1858 at a cost of £12,000, the Georgian Mansion was a boarding school for young ladies of substantial families who previously went to England for their education. The building housed forty girls and school was held in a log school house in the rear of the grounds. In addition to the basic subjects, French and deportment were considered important. Miss Matilda Davis will always be remembered for her contribution to the education of the women of the Red River.

Parkdale School

by Bill Gessner

In the 1830's Rev. William Cockran of St. Andrew's Anglican Church started a school at "Parks Creek" for the benefit of families in that area of St. Andrew's Parish. Records that have been located for April 1, 1842 to October 1, 1843 had 40 pupils with John Garrioch as teacher. His successor, Roderich Sutherland had an attendance varying from 44 to 52 for the term October 11, 1843 to April 11, 1844.

In 1877 a school was built at Parkdale, School District #3, on the south side of the River Road opposite the St. Stephen's Anglican Church which had been built in 1874, both being approximately one-half mile east of highway #9. The school cost $700.00 to build. The carpenter was Joseph Tait.

The school was officially opened November 14, 1877 by John Norquay and Rev. Cyprian Pinkham, Superintendent of Public Schools of Manitoba. At that time the property was owned by John Norquay (1841-1889) who also taught here and later became the first native premier of Manitoba, 1878 - 1887.

This building continued to be used until 1911. It was sold to the United Farmers and moved to the south-east corner of Victoria Park Road (St. Andrews Road) and present highway #9. It was later purchased by Rev. Tomkins of St. Andrew's Church for $80.00. It was then used for community functions such as school Christmas concerts, cubs and scouts and church vestry meetings until 1939 when it was sold again to the Blow family and dismantled.

On the highway #1 (now highway #9) there was a vacant Presbyterian church which was purchased and converted for a new Parkdale School. In 1919 the teacher was John W. Doubleday and the students from Grades 1 - 7 included John Brown, Agnes Brown, Jessie Davidson, Edith Davidson, Billie Davidson, Hudson Oakley, Ivy Oakley, Leonard Oakley and Alfred Oakley. It was used for this purpose until the early 1960's. In 1967 it was sold to Wakefield Anglican Church north of Clandeboye, Manitoba. It was remodelled and added to the west end of the church, and is now their church hall.
